About.shout-out

Gidole is a small beautiful rural town in Ethiopia overlooking the Great Rift Valley. I spent 4 childhood years in there and named this font after it.

The font is under development, open source & 100% free to use - also for commercial projects. It supports all latin written languages with 600+ glyphs.

Design.refine

It's my contemporary take on the classic Deutsches Institut für Normung #1451 with it's geometric and minimalistic beauty that doesn't sacrifice legibility.

It's therefore pretty versatile but please note that tracking is adjusted for text so you might want to reduce it for headlines.
